

Los retenes son refacciones industriales que sirven como su nombre lo indica, para retener, contener o separar piezas, líquidos o lubricantes, de distintas propiedades, suciedad o presión, en sistemas en los que es importante separar los componentes internos de otros agentes para mantener su vida útil.

Existen retenes de línea y retenes especiales fabricados en distintos materiales, según las condiciones en las que se usen, para asegurar la funcionalidad del retén, ya que se utilizan principalmente en el sector industrial y se requiere que sean funcionales en uso continuo.
